

Ethics and Professional Responsibility Policy

for Staff Members

Introduction

The purpose of the AssetHouse Ethics and Professional Responsibility Policy is to set the ethics standards for business practice and individual business conduct within the Company. It seeks to assist, guide and direct all stakeholders with ethics deliberations, choices, decisions and conduct.

The Code shall be binding on all staff members of AssetHouse.

The Policy is comprised of three components:

1. The Principles of Conduct, which serve to describe the qualities that staff members should aspire to in practicing their profession.
2. Standards of Conduct, which set out how staff members should direct their conduct in practising their profession, while adhering to the Principles of Conduct and applying the Financial Planning Standards.
3. The Financial Planning Standards, which set out the process according to which staff members should practise their profession.

These three components are interdependent and none of them takes precedence over another in the interpretation of the Policy.

Definitions

Client: A person, persons or entity that engages an AssetHouse staff member and to which professional services are rendered. For purposes of this definition, a staff member is engaged when, based on the relevant facts and circumstances, an individual reasonably relies on information or services provided by that staff member. Where the services of the staff member are provided to an entity, such as a company, trust, partnership or estate, the client is deemed to be the entity acting through its legally authorised representative.

Commission: The compensation received by AssetHouse, calculated as a percentage of the premiums invested by the client.

Compensation: Any economic benefit that AssetHouse or related party receives from performing their professional activities.

Conflict(s) of interest: This occurs when AssetHouse or a staff member's financial, business, property and/or personal interests, relationships or circumstances may reasonably impair the Company or his or her ability to offer objective advice, recommendations or services.

Continuous Professional Development: Activities that develop and maintain the capabilities of staff members to perform competently within their professional environment.

Fee only: A method of compensation whereby only a fee is received from a client, with neither AssetHouse, the staff member nor any related party receiving compensation contingent upon the purchase or sale of any financial product. For this purpose, a 'related party' shall mean an individual or entity from whom AssetHouse and/or the staff member derives any direct or indirect economic benefit, as a result of the party implementing a recommendation made by the staff member.

Fiduciary: One who acts in utmost good faith, in a manner that he or she reasonably believes to be in the best interest of the client.

Financial planning: The process of determining whether and how an individual can meet life goals through the proper management of financial resources. Financial planning integrates the financial planning process with the financial planning subject areas. In determining whether the staff member is providing financial planning or material elements of the financial planning process, issues that may be considered include, but are not limited to:

- The client's understanding and intent in engaging the staff member.
- The degree to which multiple financial planning subject areas are involved.
- The comprehensiveness of data collection.
- The extent of the recommendations.

Financial planning may take place even if the elements are not provided to a client simultaneously, are delivered over a period of time, or are delivered as distinct subject areas. It is not necessary to provide a written financial plan to engage in financial planning.

Financial planning engagement: When, based on the relevant facts and circumstances, a client reasonably relies on information or services provided by a staff member, using the financial planning process as approved by the Company provided that it is not necessary that a staff member receives a fee, commission or benefit to be engaged by the client and any absence or defect in performing the financial planning process shall not affect the existence of such an engagement.

Financial planning process: The process which typically includes, but is not limited to, some or all of these six elements:

- Establishing and defining the client-planner relationship.
- Collecting client data, including goals.
- Analysing and evaluating the client's current financial status.
- Developing and presenting recommendations and/or alternatives.
- Implementing the recommendations.
- Monitoring the recommendations.

Financial planning components: The basic components covered in the financial planning process which include, but are not limited to:

- Financial Management
- Asset Management
- Risk Management
- Tax Planning
- Retirement Planning
- Estate Planning.

Part 1: Principles and Standards of Conduct

Principles of Conduct

AssetHouse is committed to and requires staff members to adhere to the following principles:

Principle 1: Client First

Place the client's interests first.

Placing the client's interests first is a hallmark of professionalism, requiring staff members to act honestly and not place personal and/or AssetHouse gain or advantage, economic or otherwise, before the client's interests.

Principle 2: Integrity

Provide professional services with integrity.

Integrity requires honesty, candour, fair dealing and truthfulness in all professional matters. Staff members are placed in a position of trust by clients and the ultimate foundation of that trust is their personal integrity. Allowances can be made for legitimate differences of opinion, but integrity cannot co-exist with deceit or subordination of one's principles. Integrity requires Staff members to observe both the letter and the spirit of the Policy.

Integrity further implies that staff members shall not:

- Give recommendations that they suspect, or reasonably should have suspected, to be false or misleading, and/or
- Conduct services in a dishonourable and disrespectful manner, and/or
- Omit or obscure information that clients, AssetHouse or any other stakeholders rely on in the course of their professional endeavours.

Principle 3: Objectivity

Provide objective professional services.

Objectivity requires intellectual honesty and impartiality. Regardless of the services rendered or the capacity in which staff members' function, objectivity requires that they ensure the integrity of their work, manage conflict and exercise sound professional judgment.

Threats to objectivity may occur in various situations and forms, including, but not limited to, the following:

- A personal or economic interest of AssetHouse, the staff member, or a person of close relationship or acquaintance with the staff member.
- The promotion of a specific opinion, service or product by a staff, due to personal or economic interest.
- Actual or perceived intimidation of a staff member to promote a certain opinion, service or product.

Principle 4: Fairness

Be fair and reasonable in all professional relationships. Disclose and manage conflicts of interest.

Fairness requires providing clients with their due, whatever they are owed, or what may be expected from a professional relationship and includes honesty, and disclosure of material conflicts of interest. It involves managing one's own feelings, prejudices and desires to achieve a proper balance of interests. Fairness is treating others as you would want to be treated.

Principle 5: Professionalism

Act in a manner that demonstrates exemplary professional conduct.

Professionalism requires behaving with dignity, showing respect and courtesy to clients, fellow professionals and others in business-related activities, and complying with appropriate rules, regulations and professional requirements. Professionalism requires the financial planner, individually and in co-operation with peers, to enhance and maintain the profession's public image, and its ability to serve the public interest.

The elements of professionalism include the following:

- To acquire and master intellectual skills acquired through continuing professional development and experience.
- To accept and embrace duties to the general public, clients and AssetHouse.
- To render services of a high standard, in accordance with the Policy and the applicable laws of Mauritius.

Principle 6: Competence

Maintain the abilities, skills and knowledge necessary to provide competent professional services.

Competence requires attaining and maintaining an adequate level of knowledge, skills and abilities in the performance of professional services. Competence also includes the wisdom to recognise one's own limitations and whether consultation with other professionals or referral to other professionals would be appropriate or necessary. Competence requires the financial planner to make a continuing commitment to learning and professional improvement.

Principle 7: Confidentiality

Protect the confidentiality of all client information.

Confidentiality requires client information to be protected and maintained in such a way that access is only allowed to those who are authorised or entitled, according to the laws of Mauritius. A relationship of trust and confidence can only be built on the understanding that the client's information will not be disclosed inappropriately.

Principle 8: Diligence

Provide professional services diligently.

Diligence requires fulfilling professional commitments promptly and thoroughly, and taking due care when planning, supervising and delivering professional services.

1.6.1.2 The client is an institution in the business of lending money and the borrowing is unrelated to the professional services performed by the staff member.

1.6.2.1 The client is a member of the staff member's immediate family.

3. Remuneration

3.1 Commission and/or fees

- 3.1.1 Before the engagement, the staff member shall explain, the precise range of professional services that the fee is intended to cover, the basis on which the fee is computed and any billing arrangements.
- 3.1.2 Staff members and/or AssetHouse may be remunerated in various ways, depending on the level of advice they are providing and whether payment is based on a fee or commission, or both. Irrespective of the remuneration charged, the main criteria are fairness and equitability for the client, the staff member and AssetHouse. Excessive commissions offered by service providers should be questioned and investigated by the staff member before promoting such products and/or services. A staff member may be engaged by a client irrespective of whether the staff member or AssetHouse receives remuneration or not.
- 3.1.3 In determining what constitutes a fair remuneration, AssetHouse may take into account the value of the professional service to the client, the customary charge for similar services by other professionals, banks, and management and business consultants, and any special circumstances. No single factor is necessarily the determining factor. Agreeing on an acceptable fee is primarily a matter for negotiation between the staff member and the client. The following factors should be taken into account when determining the fee:
 - 3.1.3.1 The skill and knowledge required for the type of professional service involved
 - 3.1.3.2 The level of training and experience of the persons necessarily engaged in performing the professional service
 - 3.1.3.3 The time necessarily taken by each person engaged in performing the professional service
 - 3.1.3.4 The degree of responsibility and risk involved in performing this service
 - 3.1.3.5 The level and extent of investment in technology and infrastructure to support the advice provided.

3.2 Advice tainted by dishonest gain

- 3.2.1 Where a staff member advises a client to undertake any action which does not hold any benefit for the client and where such advice would merely generate remuneration for the staff member, such a practice will be deemed to be a contravention of the Policy.
- 3.2.2 Where the remuneration offered for procuring clients for any product or service is in excess of industry norms, staff members are warned to be extremely cautious before promoting such ventures or products, and to actively question whether there are underlying reasons why this is the case.

4. Disclosures

- 4.1 Where excessive returns are offered to clients investing with an institution or in a specific scheme, the staff member will be expected to bring to the client's attention that where returns are higher, so too are the risks associated with such investments. Once this has been brought to the client's attention and the client persists in investing in such a product or scheme, the staff member is obliged to record the client's decision in a Client Suitability Waiver form, pointing out the associated risks involved. Any failure to do so would be a contravention of the Policy.
- 4.2 Where the employment of a tax concession is crucial for a scheme to be viable, the promotion of such a scheme would be deemed to be unprofessional, unless the staff member discloses the full extent of the client's position, should such concession be withdrawn.
- 4.3 Staff members are obligated to disclose their designation to all new and existing clients. Such disclosure must state that the staff member adheres to the Policy. Such disclosure must further advise the client of its avenues of redress against the staff member and/or AssetHouse.
- 4.4 Staff members are obligated to adhere to the disclosure requirements and regulations issued by AssetHouse or the Financial Services Commission or contained in legislation of Mauritius.

5. Professional Conduct

- 5.1 Staff members shall comply with all applicable legal and regulatory requirements governing professional services provided to the client.
- 5.2 Staff members must use due skill, care, diligence, judgment, independence and objectivity in their professional activities. They may not offer, solicit or accept any gift, or other consideration that could reasonably be expected to compromise the independence and objectivity of themselves or others.
- 5.3 Staff members may not knowingly make any misrepresentations relating to investment analysis, a product and/or product supplier, competitor analysis, recommendations or proposals.
- 5.4 Where staff members give any advice or make any suggestion to a client to act in a manner that is in contravention of any law, such conduct will be deemed to be unprofessional.
- 5.5 Where staff members are approached for professional advice regarding any action that is illegal, or which they suspect or should have reasonably suspected to be illegal, due to their knowledge and expertise, such staff members are advised to decline any involvement and refer the client to a competent legal professional member for appropriate counsel.
- 5.6 All stakeholders in the financial planning profession shall be treated with dignity and respect. Staff members may not make disparaging remarks about other members, professionals, AssetHouse or a company's intermediaries to a client or any other party. Such conduct will be considered unprofessional and in contravention of the Policy.

6. Fiduciary Responsibilities

- 6.1 In exercising custody of, or discretion over, client funds or property, staff members shall fulfil the following responsibilities:
 - 6.1.1 Staff members shall act only in accordance with the Authority set forth in the governing legal Agreement, i.e. international client mandate, application form, appointment as a financial advisor, access to obtain information, power of attorney or any other such agreement governing the relationship between the client and AssetHouse.
 - 6.1.2 Staff members and AssetHouse shall identify and keep complete record of all funds or other property of a client under their discretionary authority.

- 6.4 Staff members shall identify and keep updated records of all funds or property of the client under the discretionary authority of AssetHouse.

7. Duty to AssetHouse

- 7.1 Staff members shall perform professional services with dedication to the lawful objectives of AssetHouse and in accordance with the Policy.
- 7.2 Staff members shall advise AssetHouse of any certification suspension they have received from institution or regulatory authority.
- 7.3 Staff members must act for the benefit of AssetHouse and not deprive AssetHouse of the advantage of their skills and abilities, reveal confidential information, or otherwise cause harm to AssetHouse.
- 7.4 Staff members may not accept gifts, benefits, compensation or consideration that competes with, or might reasonably be expected to create a conflict of interest with AssetHouse's interests, unless they obtain written consent from all parties involved.
- 7.5 Staff members must make reasonable efforts to detect and prevent violations of applicable laws, rules, regulations and the Policy by anyone subject to their supervision or authority.

8. Conflict of Interest

- 8.1 Staff members must make full and fair disclosure of all matters that could reasonably be expected to impair their independence and objectivity, or interfere with their respective duties to their clients, prospective clients and AssetHouse. Staff members must ensure that such disclosures are prominent, delivered in plain language and that the relevant information is communicated effectively.
- 8.2 Where appropriate, staff members must disclose any compensation, consideration or benefit received from, or paid to, others for the recommendation of products or services, to AssetHouse, clients and prospective clients.

- 8.5 Staff members shall show respect for other financial planning professionals and related occupational groups, by engaging in fair and honourable competitive practices.
- 8.6 Should staff members have reasonable knowledge of another professional member having committed a violation of any law, which raises substantial questions regarding the professional's honesty, trustworthiness or fitness, they shall promptly inform AssetHouse.
- 8.7 Staff members who have such knowledge which could, under the circumstances, reasonably warrant further investigation of a case of unprofessional, fraudulent or illegal conduct by another professional member or other financial professional, or his or her firm, shall promptly inform AssetHouse and the appropriate regulatory authority.
- 8.8 Staff members shall not use this section of the Policy to report, or threaten to report information to any authority, if the only substantial reason for such report is to harass, maliciously injure, embarrass and/or unfairly prejudice or burden another professional.
- 8.9 Staff members must comply with the AssetHouse policy concerning the handling of complaints.
- 8.10 In all professional activities, staff members shall perform services in accordance with the applicable laws, rules and regulations of government and other applicable authorities, including the policies established by AssetHouse, as amended from time to time. Any advice given that contravenes the applicable governmental laws established and amended from time to time constitutes a criminal offence.

Part 2: Financial Planning Standards

AssetHouse has defined standards of performance for the following:

- Establishing the level of practice expected of a financial planning professional engaged in the delivery of financial planning to a client.
- Establishing the norms of professional practice and allowing for consistent delivery of financial planning by financial planning professionals.
- Clarifying the respective roles and responsibilities of financial planning professionals and their clients in financial planning engagements.
- Enhancing the value of the financial planning process.

The AssetHouse standards, as part of the Policy, require the following:

Financial Planning Standards

Financial planning is the process of developing strategies to assist clients with managing their financial affairs to meet life goals. The process of financial planning involves reviewing all relevant aspects of a client's situation across a wide range of financial planning activities, including inter-relationships between often conflicting objectives.

The Standards establish the level of professional practice reasonably expected of financial planning professionals during financial planning engagements, regardless of practice type, setting, location or method of compensation. AssetHouse expects that clients will benefit from a globally accepted set of Standards for its financial planning professionals.

Applicability of the Standards

Staff members shall always consider all aspects of the client's financial situation when formulating strategies and making recommendations, and shall follow these Standards where they apply. At least some of these Standards apply to both comprehensive financial planning and the provision of services that only represent components of financial planning (financial management, asset management, risk management, tax planning, retirement planning and estate planning).

Consistent with applicable proposed regulations within the financial services industry, Standard 1, dealing with establishing and defining the relationship with the client, applies whenever a staff member provides financial planning or components thereof to a client. This serves to establish clear and appropriate expectations for the client, the staff member and AssetHouse. Standards 2 to 6 apply to the extent to which they are relevant to that engagement. The scope of the engagement document will dictate the applicability of the other standards.
